Rector writes

The weekend I wrote this missive has been a weekend of memories – or, to be more precise, the recall of memories. On Sunday morning, we gathered at St Margaret’s for our annual South Regional Council joint Eucharist. It was, as ever, a splendid occasion underlining the deep links that exist between the clergy and people of the respective churches. Sitting in my stall, the memories flooded back of my time as an NSM at St Margaret’s. It was interesting to observe that in some ways nothing has changed but, yet, all had changed. We have created something special in our joint services. This, at best, should be the setting for creating our own bank of memories to sustain us into the future.

In the afternoon of the Sunday, I joined my cousins at my aunt’s house as we looked at her belongings following her recent death. My cousins were anxious that I take some mementos as keepsakes as I had been particularly close to my aunt and uncle. On the face of it, then, a melancholy event but not so, for in the discovering of items in her house, the memories and the stories came flooding back. For instance, we found an old photo album which contained photos of my childhood – photos of my siblings, my parents and grandparents; photos I had never seen nor even knew existed. I returned to the rectory with several photos and other keepsakes - a mixture of emotions as yet another set of family memories flooded my grey cells. To complete my Sunday, I watched Woody Allen’s semi-autobiographical film Radio Days. A splendid and charming film in which the narrator uses listening to the radio as a boy in the New York of the 1930s and 1940s as the means to recall the significant events of his childhood and what happened to his extended family.

The Jewish people as our spiritual ancestors were and are a people of recalled memory and by extension, as Christians, so are we. There are many examples of the Jewish people being asked to “remember” some or other event displaying God’s graciousness or glory. To give but one example, in the book of Exodus, at chapter 13, Moses tells the tribes: “When in the future your child asks you, ‘What does this mean?’ you shall answer, ‘By strength of hand the LORD brought us out of Egypt, from the house of slavery.’” And so, to this day, at every Passover ceremony a child is given the task of asking the vital “why?” questions and in turn the eldest male supplies the answers and thus re-creates through re-lived memory the deliverance of God’s people.

We learn and grow by meditating upon the experience of the past – of those memories, good and bad, that make us and shape us into the people God would have us be. By the time you read the next edition of the magazine, the season of Advent will have commenced. I think this Advent (quite separately from the work tackled in the Thursday Advent course by those who attend) would be a good opportunity to look back at events in order to better understand the coming of Christ. Advent supremely exists to mark the climax of the imminent fulfilment of the Old Testament prophecies on God’s complete participation in God’s creation through the incarnation.

Glasgow walks

Margaret Anderson has offered to organise a guided walk of Glasgow in aid of church funds. For those who may not know, Margaret is a professional tour guide and has a wealth of knowledge on Glasgow. The walk will last for approximately 75 minutes and it is intended to finish with a tea/coffee and cake at a suitable venue. The cost will be £10 per person - £5 to cover the refreshments and £5 for church funds. It is hoped that this walk (which could be the first of many as Margaret has 52 walks in her repertoire) will take place in the spring when the weather is hopefully more favourable. If you are interested there is a list on the notice board for you to sign up - after the names have been collected, a date and time will be decided.

A life remembered

If you have been attending St Ninian's for over 30 years, you will remember Joan and Henry Zinn. Joan was a faithful member of St Ninian's and was instrumental in setting up the PCT holiday club.

Joan Zinn was born at 11 Hyde Road Eastbourne on 2 September 1936 to Lucinda and Frank Loftus. She was raised an only child and during the second world war was evacuated to Newmarket, Watford and Glasgow. In Newmarket she spent 18 happy months with family and in particular with her cousin Margaret. Returning to Hyde Road after the war, she began helping her mother with running the guest-house in which they stayed. Her role was to talk to the guests and make them feel at home; experience that prepared her well for life. She enjoyed school and especially Eastbourne Grammar School where she was a diligent student. At 18 mum worked at a local chemist in Meads and this prompted her to take up a medical career, starting nursing training at Eastbourne General Hospital. After a successful SRN qualification, mum moved to Spitalfields in the East End of London. Based at the London hospital, she began her district nursing qualification and served the poor in the East End for many happy years. At Christchurch Spitalfields, mum met her husband-to-be, Henry, and they were married on 9 May 1964. In 1965 and 1966, Jonathan and I were born and after beginning life in Manor Park, the family moved to Ilford, Essex, in 1971. We enjoyed many family activities together with mum teaching Jonathan and me tennis and cricket. Mum and I ran an art club on Saturday morning for my friends. The Jewish faith was important to both my mum and dad and as well as attending St Andrew's Parish Church in Ilford they were active members of Messianic Testimony and CMJ. We always celebrated the Passover meal with mum providing food for sometimes over 30 friends in our home.

In 1981 we moved to Glasgow as my father's career in insurance progressed. After 8 months he sadly suffered serious brain damage from a car accident and my mum's life changed forever. Many would have abdicated responsibility at this point; my mum didn't. As Churchill said: "If you're going through hell, keep going!" And she did.

Mum always had a caring nature and was welcoming to anyone who was in need. During her time in Glasgow she developed a kids' club with her friend Lesley for some of the children from the local housing estate. The children responded to her warmth and simple welcome and many young people were led to faith in Jesus. St Ninian's Church welcomed my mum and these children so warmly.

There were many happy moments too and Mum absolutely loved holidays – to Egypt, Russia and visiting her nephew for a family occasion in New Zealand. Of course, trips to the Holy Land were a major feature of our early family life.

Returning to Eastbourne in 1992 brought mum a lot of happiness, especially her frequent school reunions. A spiritual home was found here in St Mary's church where she became a well-known and faithful, if not entirely punctual, member of the congregation. She enjoyed the Towner Art Gallery, the sea front and trips to the pantomime at Christmas. She welcomed foreign students into her home and continued to host and lead the Jerusalem Prayer Fellowship; a faithful witness over many years.

In the last few weeks of her life we saw a fusion of beauty and sadness. Ken, Lois, Tatiana, Angus and I realised we were privileged to spend so much time with my mum. In the midst of the discomfort there were many happy moments, boisterous silly songs and storytelling.

We will always be grateful that my mum was able to come home for her final days. Our home became her home, which extended a palliative approach – surrounding us all with beauty and shining grace. Solace was found in the trust of our Lord, which seemingly presented as a moment of utter powerlessness which constantly became a core moment of greatest love and comfort. My mum loved to sing Abide With Me and I loved the last verse.

Shine through the gloom and point me to the skies
Heavens morning breaks and earth's vain shadows flee
In life, in death, O Lord abide with me.

Please remember Joan and her family in your prayers. May she rest in peace and rise in glory.

Advent course 2019

This year I will be offering an advent course entitled “Expecting Christ” written by Bishop David Wilbourne. In the words of the author, “...in this course we look at several moments in our faith and lives where a door opens and lets Christ in, catching the sense of expectancy which not only comes at the season of Advent, but throughout the year...” The course is divided into four sessions: Expecting Christ in family; Expecting Christ in me; Expecting Christ in prayer and Expecting Christ in the end.

Each participant will receive their own booklet to take home and use, which has material to read and questions to tackle pertaining to the session. Also, there is a CD of interviews with different people to illustrate and amplify the session. As we have developed over the past years we will tackle the sessions and listen to the CD over a nice cup of tea. You will appreciate that you will not get the best out of the course if you are not willing to take a booklet and read the material for each session and, of course, bring your booklet to each session. I will put a “sign-up” sheet on the notice board nearer the time so I can get an idea of how many booklets to distribute. Of course, even if you don’t sign up you are still very welcome to attend. The logistics of the calendar this year mean that we will need to start the course in the week before Advent starts to fit in all four sessions. The sessions will occur on 28 November and 5, 12 and 19 December.

Christian Solidarity Worldwide

I apologise for not keeping you all up-to-date on this recently. We are asked to pray for the public affairs team as they try to raise awareness in the UK parliament, the UN, the EU and other international arenas of the many millions suffering due to religious persecution and human rights violations. In the Central African Republic, despite the restoration of democratic rule, there is still much violence often with sectarian aspects. Some Christian and Muslim groups have been able to celebrate their big festivals in peace. In Vietnam, nearly all religious groups are reporting severe violations of freedom of religion. Prayers are particularly asked for the imprisoned Pastor Ton and the human rights lawyer Nguyen Bac Truyen. Cuba is still suffering lack of religious freedom and of human rights. 17 November is the International Day for the Persecuted Church, and Red Wednesday, 27 November, is to raise awareness of Christians persecuted. As always, please refer to the CSW website for more details.

Journeying: pilgrim holidays in Britain and Ireland

Journeying started life in 1988, leading small groups of people on pilgrimage to the more remote parts of Britain and Ireland, following in the footsteps of the early Celtic saints. We remain non-profit-seeking with a spiritual ethos and a faith journey in a small, informal, personal way.

Leaders are volunteers and come from all walks of life, and from a wide range of denominations, from ordained ministers to charity workers and business people. They are all experienced in leading group walking holidays and have discovered a closeness to God through travel to remote places and have a passion to share this with others.

Below is the 2020 Journeying Holiday Programme:

The Church

At St. Ninian's, as in nearly all Episcopal Churches in Scotland, we reserve the sacrament of the Eucharist. From this reserved sacrament Holy Communion is given to the aged, sick or infirm at home, in hospital or in hospice to assure them of Christ's love and presence and to enfold them in the communion and fellowship of the church. The sacrament is also reserved to assure us all of Christ's constant presence with his people.

For baptism, visitation of the sick, funerals, marriages and confession, please speak to the Rector.

At St. Ninian's, we meet our needs largely through planned giving envelopes. Every member of the church is urged to pledge a definite amount and, if possible, to Gift Aid their offering. Please apply for information and envelopes through either the Recorder or the Treasurer.

The Vestry has reluctantly decided that it is unwise to keep the church open on weekdays. If you need access at times other than the services and events posted on the notice board please phone the Vestry Secretary.
